Care

Three words, two disciplines - one goal!

EPIC is a European intervention study on palliative care in intensive care units. The study is a collaboration between intensive care units and specialized palliative care in five European countries and will start in June 2024.

Part of the study is a training course for all ICU staff. This is a blended learning program.

Blended Learning

Blended learning consists of an approx. 45-minute e-learning course for self-study and a joint 90-minute online workshop. You can work on the e-learning alone on your computer or tablet and organise your time as you wish. It also contains links to more in-depth content.

Common goal

Vision and goal

EPIC wants to contribute to a change in awareness, away from a focus purely on survival towards survival with quality of life, taking into account jointly set, achievable goals.

Sustainable improvement of palliative care for critically ill intensive care patients and their relatives through:

- palliative care training and continuing education for intensive care nurses and physicians.
- an innovative, integrated model for multi-professional palliative care in the intensive care unit.
- Use of telemedicine for consultations.
- A deeper understanding of the factors that support and hinder the inclusion of palliative care in intensive care.
